

Kevin Mo

Principal of iGDP (Innovative Green Development Program)
Senior Advisor, Climate Change and Energy Program of Peking University's Energy Research Institute

Kevin Mo

Dr. Kevin Mo is the Principal of iGDP (Innovative Green Development Program) and Senior Advisor to Climate Change and Energy Program of Peking University's Energy Research Institute. He has more than 25 years of experience in climate and energy policies in both the U.S. and China. He is also a frequent speaker and writer on climate and energy policies.

His previous positions include Managing Director of the Paulson Institute Representative Office, Senior Director of the University of Chicago's Energy Policy Research Institute in China (EPIC China), and Senior Advisor to Becker Friedman Institute China (BFI China).

He was voted to the Top 10 Green Motivators in 2017 by China Real Estate News. He won the EEBA 25th Anniversary Legacy Award in 2007 by managing a U.S. Department of Energy's energy efficiency award program, and the 2nd place of Science and Technology Progress Award from China's Ministry of Culture in 1995.

He earned his Ph.D. from Carnegie Mellon University, a master's degree from Tsinghua University and a bachelor's degree from Zhejiang University.