IS HEALTH CARE A HUMAN RIGHT?

Presented by the Neubauer Collegium for Culture and Society and the Pozen Family Center for Human Rights

OCTOBER 10-11, 2014

Quadrangle Club, Library

1155 E. 57th Street

Free and open to the public

Persons with disabilities who need an accommodation in order to participate in this event should contact the Neubauer Collegium for Culture and Society at collegium@uchicago.edu or 773.702.6030.

Organized by University of Chicago Professor Daniel Brudney, this two-day symposium will bring together scholars from several disciplines to discuss whether there is a human right to health care; if there is such a right, what its content is likely to be, and which institutions would have the obligation to make that right a reality.

Participants Include:

Sarah Conly (Bowdoin College)

Varun Gauri (World Bank)

S. Matthew Liao (New York University)

James W. Nickel (University of Miami)

David Reidy (University of Tennessee - Knoxville)

Jennifer Prah Ruger (University of Pennsylvania)

Gopel Sreenivasan (Duke University)

John Tasioulas (King's College London)

Cosponsored by the Franke Institute of the Humanities.
