DESCRIPTION OF GIFT ANNUITY

A gift annuity is a simple contract between you and the University of Chicago. In exchange for your and your spouse's contribution, the University will make fixed payments for life to you and your spouse as provided in your gift annuity agreement with the University. The amount paid is based on the age of the annuitants at the time of the gift, in accordance with the University's rate schedule.

NOT A COMMERCIAL INVESTMENT

The act of establishing a gift annuity with the University is not, and should not be viewed as, an investment. Rather, it is a way to receive annuity payments while making a charitable donation. In this respect, the gift annuity with the University is different from a commercial annuity. However, the fact that you are making a charitable gift can provide you with tax benefits, including a current federal income tax charitable deduction (if you itemize your deductions) and annuity payments, which are partially tax-free.

GIFT ANNUITY RATES

Generally, the gift annuity rates paid by the University are those suggested by the American Council on Gift Annuities, which is a national organization of charities that has been in existence since 1927. These rates are calculated so as to provide attractive payments to a donor and/or other annuitants and also to result in a significant portion of the contribution remaining for the charity. Because a gift is involved, the rates are lower than those available through commercial annuities offered by insurance companies and other financial institutions.

THE UNIVERSITY

The University was established in 1890. At present, the University consists of an undergraduate college, four graduate divisions, six professional schools, and other affiliated entities. Responsibility for governing the University is vested in a board of trustees whose number shall not exceed 55. At each annual meeting, the board elects trustees for five-year terms to succeed the group of trustees whose terms expire at that meeting.

ASSETS BACKING ANNUITY

The annuity payments are a general obligation of the University and, as such, are backed by the University's assets. As of June 30, 2017, the University's total invested assets were valued at $7.5 billion. These funds are invested in a diversified portfolio that includes equity and fixed-income securities, cash and cash equivalents, and other property. The University has retained professional investment managers to assist with investing its assets.

Common investment funds managed by the University are exempt from registration requirements of the federal securities laws, pursuant to the exemptions for collective investment funds and similar funds maintained by charitable organizations under the Philanthropy Protection Act of 1995 (P.L. 104-62). The information in this disclosure is provided to you in accordance with the requirements of that act.
