

CSRPC Graduate Lectureships 2017-18
Deadline: Monday, February 27, 2017, 12:00 noon

The College and the Center for the Study of Race, Politics and Culture are calling for applications from advanced graduate students to teach one undergraduate course of their own design on topics related to race and ethnic studies. Courses in any related topic or thematic may be proposed. The Center is especially interested in courses that posit race and processes of racialization in comparative and transnational frameworks; highlight the intersection of race and ethnicity with other identities (gender, class, sexuality and nationality); and/or interrogate social and identity cleavages within racialized communities.

Eligibility: Advanced graduate students (Ph.D. candidates with at least one chapter of the dissertation written) in any discipline at the University of Chicago are encouraged to apply. The stipend is $5,000 or $6,000 (depending on graduate status) and is available for one quarter only. Up to six Graduate Lectureships will be awarded. Students applying to teach in other departments may not teach the same course for CSRPC during that academic year.

Application process: The online application form can be filled out and submitted at https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1kBbS_f0sueGRYp6ve4xB_uK8zHUvCQ0mLFX91YD-7Nw/viewform. The following required materials should be submitted by email to Sarah Tuohey at stuohey@uchicago.edu in the following order as a combined pdf.

1. A two-page curriculum vitae
2. A teaching statement explaining the aims of your course, your preparation for teaching it, and your teaching philosophy and method
3. A proposed syllabus with a detailed course description
4. Optional: course evaluations from previous teaching experience
5. A chapter of the dissertation

Finally, arrange to have letter of recommendation from a member of your committee confirming that you have completed at least one chapter of your dissertation emailed directly to Sarah Tuohey

Deadline: The online application form should be submitted and other materials emailed to Sarah Tuohey by Monday, February 27, 2017, 12:00 PM.

Please contact Sarah Tuohey at 773-702-2365 or stuohey@uchicago.edu with any questions.