

CSRPC GRADUATE TRAVEL AND RESEARCH GRANTS 2017-2018

The Center for the Study of Race, Politics and Culture at the University of Chicago invites applications for Graduate Research and Travel Grants for the academic year 2017-2018. Qualified graduate students at the University of Chicago from all disciplines are encouraged to apply. For a description of the CSRPC mission, see: <http://csrpc.uchicago.edu>

Grant Description: The goal of the grant is to support the research efforts of outstanding graduate students interested in the study of race and ethnicity. The grant may only be used for expenses associated with a clearly defined research project. Activities that will be considered for funding include, but are not limited to, travel-related expenses (transportation and lodging) associated with field or primary archival research, transcription costs, duplication services, or the acquisition of data sets for quantitative analysis. Preference will be given to dissertation-related research, however, other projects will also be considered. Grants of up to $2,500 will be awarded to successful candidates. These grants may be used to supplement other small grants, but cannot be combined to yield support of more than $5,000. The receipt of other research funds must be reported to the Center and, if necessary, Center support may be reduced accordingly. The funds will be available for distribution after July 1, 2017. Travel must be completed and all research- and travel-related receipts submitted by May 15, 2018.
