Committing to Diversity & Inclusion

Diversity is a foundational value at the University of Chicago. We must strive to create a campus where people of different backgrounds and identities feel valued and where their ideas and contributions can flourish. While we’ve made significant gains in these areas, we realize that much work remains ahead. We hope to engage all members of our campus community in working towards this shared goal.

We invite you to participate in this ongoing work of fostering a diverse and inclusive campus environment. By collaborating with your colleagues to create a diversity and inclusion (D&I) plan specific to your unit, you can help create a campus climate that gives all people an opportunity to realize their full potential.

ABOUT THIS TOOLKIT

The University of Chicago conducted the 2016 Campus Climate Survey to better understand the climate around bias and harrassment. In January 2017, we shared recommendations from the Diversity Advisory Council. One key Council recommendation was that each unit create a diversity and inclusion plan. This toolkit was created to help guide unit leaders through the process of creating and implementing an actionable D&I plan. It includes multiple recommendations to choose from, encouraging units to customize a plan relevant to their local contexts. For some units, this toolkit can serve as a first step. For other units, it can support ongoing D&I efforts already in process.
Using a Common Framework

UChicago approaches D&I using a framework prioritizing four strategy areas:

1. Create an infrastructure to support diversity and inclusion activities.
2. Foster a climate that is inclusive of all on campus.
3. Develop and support the people who comprise our University.
4. Engage in our surrounding community.

Using this common framework across units, we can create customizable D&I plans that create intentional, collective impact.
Initial Guidelines

Start building your D&I plan by completing these actions.

✓ Identify Your D&I Team

Question:
Who in my unit will lead and support our D&I planning efforts?

Action:
Identify your D&I planning team.

Details/Resources:
- Identify a point-person or persons and team members from your unit to address questions, collect suggestions, and spearhead communications that arise throughout the planning process.
- Consider the composition of your team and how it represents various perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences.

✓ Join with Others

Question:
How can we communicate our commitment to diversity and inclusion internally and externally?

Action:
Add your unit to the growing number of people working on a D&I plan.

Details/Resources:
- Fill out the form below to let other units on campus know you are participating.
- Access the D&I plan sign-up here.

✓ Communicate Your D&I Efforts

Question:
How will we communicate ongoing D&I progress within our unit?

Action:
Create a communication protocol for your D&I planning team that articulates how you will communicate progress to your unit.

Details/Resources:
- Disseminate your D&I point-person’s contact info and other details for getting involved.
  - Set regular meeting times to discuss how to communicate progress on D&I efforts.
  - Include updates on your D&I efforts in newsletters, emails, and during unit-wide meetings.
Diversity & Inclusion Reflection

Together with your planning team, take time to reflect on and answer these questions. Your values, assets and aspirations can guide the strategic activities of your group while helping you steer clear of any obstacles that might impede the planning process.

1. State your commitment to diversity

Question: How can I let UChicago and the public know that D&I is important to our unit?

Action: Think about the language you will use when talking about D&I and include it in your syllabi, website, and other materials.

Details/Resources:
- View the President and Provost’s message on diversity here.
- View a sample statement of diversity for a syllabus by the Chicago Center for Teaching here.

Consider an accessibility statement informing individuals with disabilities how to request needed accommodations in order to participate.

2. Evaluate D&I visibility

Question: How is my commitment to D&I made visible to those outside UChicago?

Action: Review your existing external-facing materials.

Details/Resources:
- Materials may include recruitment packets, admissions documents, and departmental websites/social media sites. Pay special attention to imagery, content, and ease and availability of D&I related information.

3. Make a timeline

Question: How can we stay on track with our D&I efforts?

Action: Give your group deadlines to accomplish specific goals over a designated period of time.

Details/Resources:
- Prioritize your goals on a quarterly basis.
- Make a list of key steps necessary to accomplish each goal.
- Set realistic time frames for your specific goals.
- Map and prioritize actions on a calendar.

4. Get informed about D&I at UChicago

Question: How do I get a sense of the current state of D&I at UChicago?

Action: Become familiar with existing UChicago D&I reports.

Details/Resources:
- Read the following:
  - UChicago 2016 Climate Survey Results
  - UChicago D&I Initiative website
  - Existing D&I plans or statements from your department

Discuss what strengths and challenges face your particular unit and what departmental climate issues you are most interested in addressing at this time.
Climate refers to the social environment we create and experience. Cultivating an inclusive climate is vital to building a community where all members have a sense of belonging and can participate fully in the life of the University.
