Electronic Files Disclaimer Statement

The attached electronic files are the property of The University of Chicago and should be used solely for work authorized by and executed on behalf of the University. Any changes made to CAD files should be made in conformance with the University's Facility Standards, and are to be considered the property of the University under the terms of any contract or agreement executed between your firm and The University of Chicago.

In providing these files, the University does not vouch for the accuracy of scale, content, or layout. The University attempts to provide the best available information, but many files are based on information which may not reflect all recent renovations or modifications to a building or to University or municipal utilities infrastructures serving the campus. Consequently, electronic files should not be used for design purposes without content first being field measured and verified.
