Resident Spotlight: Mathias Léopoldie

My name is Mathias and I come from France where I study with four of the I-House French residents. I study literature in La Sorbonne and a mix of the social sciences at SciencesPo in Paris. I chose UChicago for its excellent academic reputation, obviously not for the city's weather! I was warned that Chicago weather was not as nice as California weather but I am glad I chose this University. It offers amazing classes in a very wide range of departments. Also, being able to attend many events on campus is an invaluable experience. I-House was recommended to me by other French fellows and I think that it is the best place to live on campus. I love the fact that you can just come into the Dining Room and have the five —or so— continents united around their meals at a table. Fun fact: I am constantly reminded of this diversity as, apart from French-speaking residents, everyone has their own and somewhat foreign way of pronouncing my name. I would like to thank all of the Community Fellows and staff that make I-House the liveliest place to be.

Upcoming Events

Monday, March 9

Turkish Table
6PM in the Dining Room

Improve your Turkish speaking skills and learn more about the culture!

Wednesday, March 11

iWorkout

6.30PM in the Dance Studio

Stuck inside...again? Get moving with iWorkout!

Wednesday, March 11

Japanese Table

7PM in the Dining Room

Come participate at the Japanese table to learn the language and more about the culture.

Thursday, March 12

iFilm Series: God Loves Uganda

8PM in the Dining Room

God Loves Uganda is a documentary film exploring connections between Evangelicalism in North America and in Uganda. The film suggests that the North American influence is the reason behind the controversial Ugandan Anti-Homosexuality Act, which at one point raised the possibility of the death penalty for gays and lesbians. The filmmakers follow a group of young missionaries from the International House of Prayer in their first missionary effort in another nation.

Saturday, March 14

Pi Day

5.30-6.30PM in the Dining Room

Come celebrate Pi, the symbol used in mathematics to represent a constant — the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter — which is approximately 3.14159. Purchase slices of pie from the Residents' Council to support the Class Gift Campaign!

Sunday, March 15

Sunday Social Hour

9PM in the Dining Room

This week's Social Hour is brought to you by Lauren M. and the residents of 9E and the Tower!

Good luck with finals and have a wonderful spring break!
