Committee of Presidents of Statistical Societies (COPSS) 2020 Awards

Rina Foygel Barber

Professor

Department of Statistics, The University of Chicago

Rina Foygel Barber was awarded the 2020 COPSS Presidents' Award, on August 5, during a JSM (virtual) ceremony, "For fundamental contributions to statistical sparsity and selective inference in high-dimensional problems; for the creative and novel knock-off filter to cope with correlated coefficients; for contributions to compressed sensing, the jackknife and conformal predictive inference; for the encouragement and training of graduate and undergraduate students."

Congratulations, Rina!
