

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Department of Statistics

STATISTICS COLLOQUIUM

DYLAN SMALL

Department of Statistics
University of Pennsylvania

Gun Violence Prevention and Statistics

MONDAY, November 9, 2020 at 4:00 PM

Via Zoom (session information will be e-mailed to subscribers)

ABSTRACT

Gun violence is a problem in America. There are many unresolved questions concerning potential gun violence prevention policies. I will mention a few areas in which statisticians might contribute to addressing these questions. I will then discuss a few problems I have worked on about gun violence prevention, highlighting some of the statistical issues.

For further information and inquiries about building access for persons with disabilities, please contact Jonathan Rodriguez at 773.702.8333 or send him an email at jgrodriguez@galton.uchicago.edu. If you wish to subscribe to our email list, please visit the following website:
<https://lists.uchicago.edu/web/subscribe/statseminars>.