Application Deadline for Winter Quarter 2023: November 9, 2022

The Chicago Center for Teaching and Learning is seeking graduate student applicants for the Teaching Consultants Program. Teaching Consultants support the mission of the CCTL by conducting Mid-Course Reviews and Individual Teaching Consultations for graduate student and postdoctoral teachers across the University of Chicago.

Teaching Consultants are graduate students trained by the CCTL in:

- Observing teaching strategies in the classroom
- Assessing student engagement
- Communicating formative feedback on teaching

Role & Responsibilities
Teaching Consultants will:

- Attend an initial half-day training (approximately 4.5 hours)
- Attend one additional workshop each quarter (approximately 1 hour)
- Perform no more than 15 hours of service, including:
  - At least one Independent Teaching Consultation (~6 hours)
  - At least one Mid-Course Review (~3 hours)
  - Beyond these minimum requirements, the combination of services performed will depend on need.

Compensation: $500 per quarter

Reappointment: TCs are eligible for quarterly reappointment subject to satisfactory performance.

APPLY HERE

Questions and More Information: Please see the CCTL website or contact Sam Harris, CCTL Assistant Director, at slharris@uchicago.edu.